The Nutrition Position: Oral/Systemic Health Impact

Course Description: Americans are truly becoming what they eat and the statistical changes and long-term outcomes are moving in unhealthy directions. The fact is the American diet is FAR from giving anyone the Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA) of nutrients. Getting back to the basics of consuming whole foods is the key to balancing our general and oral health.

In our medication savvy society, many people believe that supplements will make up for our nutritional deficiencies. Herbal supplements promise everything from slowing progression of Alzheimer disease to reducing blood pressure and even reducing cholesterol. But how do they affect our oral health?

As dental professionals, we have the opportunity to educate, advocate and encourage patients to implement healthy lifestyles relative to nutrition and oral health. By providing a "wellness plan" during dental appointments, we are expanding the scope of dental treatment beyond oral disease.

Speaker: Linda Blackiston, RDH, BS

Linda Blackiston, RDH, BS Manager, Professional Education Mid-Atlantic Email: Linda.Blackiston@philips.com

Linda received her Bachelor of Science in Dental Hygiene from University of Maryland Dental School after being a business owner for nine years. Her professional and clinical background includes corporate pharmaceuticals, general practice, periodontics, and staff positions in pediatric dentistry at University of Maryland. Linda is a manager of Professional Education for Philips Oral Healthcare. She is an industry author, writing and lecturing nationally.

Linda volunteers with Mid-Atlantic PANDA (Prevention and Abuse Neglect Through Dental Awareness) providing courses on recognizing and reporting cases of abuse and neglect. Linda serves on the Samaritan Women board of directors, which is a long-term restoration program for victims of human trafficking. She also volunteers educating the community on human trafficking issues.
