Course #1: "Radiation Safety Certification – Refresher" 2.0 CEUs

Course Description: The use of radiography for medical diagnosis is a key component to the oral health professional. Although the dental practice exposes patients to some of the lowest amounts of medical radiation, it is important to stay current on the safety and best practices to protect the patient and the provider. This course will review the science and safety of radiology in accordance to the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection. This course will also provide you with the most current policies and procedures of radiation exposure and practice, and proper disclaimer information to post in the healthcare setting.

Upon Completion of this course, participants will:

- Understand radiation science
- Review X-ray imaging techniques and safe practices
- Know how to properly maintain a quality assurance (QA) program, safety plans, and documentation
- Review regulations and policies per the guidelines set by the PA DEP

Speaker: Laura Crawford, RDH, MHS, PHDHP

Laura Crawford is an enthusiastic and passionate dental hygienist residing in central Pennsylvania. As an active member of the Pennsylvania Dental Hygienists' Association, Laura is currently serving as the Northwest Component Trustee and Continuing Education Chair for Sector 3. She practices chair side for Dr. Eddie Kotary, DMD, and Dr. April Detar, DMD in State College, PA. As adjunct faculty, she is a clinic instructor in the Dental Hygiene program at Pennsylvania College of Technology. She has experience practicing chair side in multiple healthcare settings including, public schools, private practice, community clinic, and community volunteering events. She has also coordinated and carried out dental health fairs in Managua, Nicaragua on two separate occasions. Laura presented her graduate research on the Pennsylvania opioid epidemic at the Pennsylvania Public Health Association's Annual Conference in 2016 and 2017. As an advocate for community outreach and continuing education, she continues to participate with a local Advocates for a Drug Free Tomorrow organization post-graduation, bringing a unique perspective as a dental health educator to the addiction crisis.

Course #2: “Oral Pathology Review” 1.0 CEU

Course Description: As oral healthcare providers, it is our responsibility to be up to date on common oral pathologies, standard of care and treatment. This course will review many common themes of oral pathology seen in practice, how to identify them, and best treatment practices that can be implemented in the standard of care for your facility.

Upon Completion of this course, participants will:

- Identify Oral Cancer using white light and Velscope
- Identify and understand best treatment practices for oral pathologies, such as dry mouth, ulcers, hyperplasia, mucositis, thrush, pemphigus, tissue trauma, etc.
