Transforming Patient Care through the Integration of New Products, Technologies, and Diagnostic Testing

Course description: Transforming Patient Care through the Integration of New Products, Technologies, and Diagnostic Testing Dentistry has never been so exciting! The past decade has led the way to advancements that can enhance the rendering of patient care. Patients no longer have to be subjected to invasive treatments because we can now identify dental disease in its earliest stages. Practices that miss out on the opportunity to integrate these new products, technologies, and diagnostic testing will be left so far behind that it will be difficult to catch up. This course will introduce participants to the latest in dentistry. They will leave equipped with the knowledge necessary to select and integrate tools that will lead to exceptional patient care.

Lisa Maisonet, RDH, BS, PHDHP, EFDA, CDA received her AAS degree in Dental Hygiene from Montgomery County Community College and a BS degree from PA College of Technology. She is enrolled in a Master's Program in Adult Education at Penn State University. Further, she is certified as an Expanded Functions Dental Assistant and is an adjunct Faculty in the Dental Hygiene Program at Montgomery County Community College.

As a director of operations/consultant for her current employer, Lisa works with 13 practices to implement systems that are geared towards prevention. She provides her team with training opportunities that allow them to implement new products and technologies in enhancing patient care. Although she is busy in her role, she makes it a point to jump into patient care in order to satisfy her desire to make a difference in patient's lives. Currently she serves as President of PDHA and loves to help push the profession of dental hygiene forward.
